Home to Twenty Houses

All of the residence halls at Michigan Tech are divided into house sections. Each house is a community with a name, history, and unique identity for students to build friendships, participate in social events, and achieve success.

Resident Assistant (RA)

Each house is staffed by an RA who is trained to help residents adjust to college, to be a resource for answers to questions, and maintain an atmosphere in the house which is conducive to studying while helping to build a strong social community.

Learning Communities

www.housing.mtu.edu/livelearn

Learning Communities are unique residence hall living areas designed to enhance the student experience at Michigan Tech by providing a community of friends. These communities bring together specialized programming with additional staff.

Learning Communities within McNair Hall include:

- International House (I-House)
- Summit House (Formerly known as Healthy Living House)
- Computer Science Learning Community (CSLC)

McNair Hall Association (MHA)

www.housing.mtu.edu/mha

House presidents take a leadership role by speaking on behalf of their fellow residents as members of MHA. Responsibilities of MHA range from maintaining hall common areas, sponsoring social events, purchasing materials for the reception desk, and representing students on governmental issues.
